Mame of the Educational Address: N°35 Ninoshvili Str. Batumi 6010
Title of the Educational Program Economics Title of the Educational Program Qualification conferred Program Volume in Credits Aim of the Educational Program Cational Program Aim of the Educational Program Cation of the Educational Program Aim of the Educational Program Cation of the Educational Program Aim of the Educational Program Cation of the Education of Master's thesis and 5 credits for internship). Specialization courses – 40 credits. To prepare highly qualified specialists in the fields of economic theory and practice who have fundamental knowledge in consumption, savings, investments, currency rates and trade balance, regulations of international movement of goods, production factor and financial assets, global economic problems, national and international economic policy and its instruments. Has: • deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; • deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; Economics
Economics Qualification conferred Program Volume in Credits Aim of the Educational Program Cate balance, regulations of international movement of goods, production factor and financial assets, global economic problems, national and international economic policy and its instruments. Learning Outcomes Has: • deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; • deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information;
Qualification conferred Master of Economics
Program Volume in Credits Program "Economics" comprises 120 credits, including major courses 80 credits (45 credits for compulsory courses, 30 credits for Master's thesis and 5 credits for internship). Specialization courses – 40 credits. Aim of the Educational Program To prepare highly qualified specialists in the fields of economic theory and practice who have fundamental knowledge in consumption, savings, investments, currency rates and trade balance, regulations of international movement of goods, production factor and financial assets, global economic problems, national and international economic policy and its instruments. Learning Outcomes Has: deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economics analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information;
Program Volume in Credits Program "Economics" comprises 120 credits, including major courses 80 credits (45 credits for compulsory courses, 30 credits for Master's thesis and 5 credits for internship). Specialization courses – 40 credits. Aim of the Educational Program To prepare highly qualified specialists in the fields of economic theory and practice who have fundamental knowledge in consumption, savings, investments, currency rates and trade balance, regulations of international movement of goods, production factor and financial assets, global economic problems, national and international economic policy and its instruments. Has: • deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; • deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; for compulsory courses, 30 credits for Master's thesis and 5 credits for internship). Specialization courses – 40 credits. To prepare highly qualified specialists in the fields of economic theory and practice who have fundamental knowledge in consumption, savings, investments, currency rates and trade balance, regulations of international movement of goods, production factor and financial assets, global economic problems, national and international economic policy and its instruments. Has: deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; for compulsory courses, 30 credits for Master's thesis and 5 credits for internship). Specialization courses – 40 credits. To prepare highly qualified specialists in the fields of economic theory and practice who have fundamental knowledge in consumption, savings, investments, currency rates and trade balance, regulations of international movement of goods, production factor and financial assets, global economic problems, national and international economic policy and its instruments. Has: deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; Specialization courses – 40 credits. Aim of the Educational Program To prepare highly qualified specialists in the fields of economic theory and practice who have fundamental knowledge in consumption, savings, investments, currency rates and trade balance, regulations of international movement of goods, production factor and financial assets, global economic problems, national and international economic policy and its instruments. Learning Outcomes Has: • deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; • deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; Aim of the Educational Program To prepare highly qualified specialists in the fields of economic theory and practice who have fundamental knowledge in consumption, savings, investments, currency rates and trade balance, regulations of international movement of goods, production factor and financial assets, global economic problems, national and international economic policy and its instruments. Has: • deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; • deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; have fundamental knowledge in consumption, savings, investments, currency rates and trade balance, regulations of international movement of goods, production factor and financial assets, global economic problems, national and international economic policy and its instruments. Has: • deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; • deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; trade balance, regulations of international movement of goods, production factor and financial assets, global economic problems, national and international economic policy and its instruments. Has: • deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; • deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; financial assets, global economic problems, national and international economic policy and its instruments. Has: deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; Adeep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; • deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; Learning Outcomes deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; deep and systemic knowledge of the field that enables to elaborate new and original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; original ideas; understands ways of solving specific problems; deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; deep and systemic knowledge of: macroeconomic regularities, microeconomic theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; theory, monetary and fiscal economic instruments, application of modern methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; methods of economic analysis in solving social-economic problems; modern mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; mechanisms of economics and business state regulation, risk management, market infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; infrastructure, state and municipal administration, international economic relations and other important issues. Is able to: formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; relations and other important issues. Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information;
Is able to: • formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information;
 formulate argumentative conclusions on the basis of critical analysis of complex and incomplete information; and incomplete information;
*
academic and professional society in Georgian and foreign languages; conduct learning independently, understand learning process peculiarities and high level of strategic planning, evaluation of others and own attitude towards democratic values and contribute to the establishment of new values; make critical evaluation of economic reforms in transitional period;
 apply fiscal and monetary instruments in solving practical problems;
, , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , , ,
make analysis and selection of methods for efficient functioning of economics;
evaluate social economy, social infrastructure;
proper evaluation of investment environment, foreign trade processes, etc.
Assessment Students are evaluated according to the following system:
a) (A) – Excellent - 91 points and more; b) (B) – Very Good - 81-90 points;
c) (C) – Good 71-80 points; d) (D)– Satisfactory 61-70 points;
e) (E) – Sufficient 51-60 points;
(FX) – could not pass 41-50 points. Student has the right to take the additional exam once more; (F) – Fail 0-40 points. Student has to take the course again.
Contact Person Program leader: Natela Tsiklashvili, Professor Tel.: 577952595,
E-mail: deputyrector-n@bsu.edu.ge